

Summer Camp Checklist

Summer Camp Checklist

I get it. Busy parents have a million things to remember when sending their kids off to camp. Before your little ones head out for a summer away from home, make sure they're equipped with all the essentials!

This simple checklist makes it easy.

Labels- Your kids will be sharing a cabin. If you want to make sure their gear gets back home, label everything!

Lightweight backpack- Camp is synonymous with outdoor adventures. Daypacks equipped with canteen holders & gadget clips are key.

Bathroom Caddy- From toothpaste and floss to bobby pins and hair ties, your camper will need all of their bathroom essentials in one easy to reach spot.

Hiking Shoes- Walking on rocky terrain or on muddy slopes requires much more than your child's standard sneaker can offer. Invest in a waterproof shoe, and you can use them again next year!

Windbreaker- It can get chilly out once the sun goes down. Windbreakers are lightweight and take up barely any room!

Stationary- This one makes stay-away camp easier for mom and dad. Pre-address (and stamp) stationary, so your kids can send letters home.

SPF50- Sunblock is just as important as toothpaste. Leave a note on the bottle to remind your child of when they should apply it.

Shower sandals- Communal showers can be a breeding ground for bacteria. Pack a designated pair of $1 flip flops that are for bathroom and shower trips.

Entertainment- No wifi, no problem! Pack up a few books or even card games just in case the kids get rained in.

Laundry bag- Bathing suits that have been left in the bottom of a backpack for a week?! Yikes! Provide enough laundry bags for a stink-free trip.

Prescription medicine- Before you leave your kids at camp, be sure to chat with the camp counselors about any medication needed. Provide thorough instructions!

Baseball hat- This one's always nice to have just in case. After a day of swimming under the sun, it's great to be able to throw on a cap.

Toiletries- Wet wipes, toothpaste, toothbrush, dental floss, contact lenses, cleaning solution, shower gel, deodorant, feminine hygiene products, shampoo & conditioner, lip balm, tissues, comb or brush, triple check all of it!

Something special from home- This is an exciting time for your kids. But that doesn't mean they might not get a little homesick. Make the transition easier by packing a favorite teddy bear or snapshot!
